

British Yemeni Society Research Grant

As part of its educational mission, the British–Yemeni Society (<http://b-ys.org.uk/>) offers a of up to £1,000 annually to assist with academic study related to Yemen. Applications are invited from anyone carrying out research in, or on Yemen, at a university, preferably one that is based in Britain or Yemen. Applicants' nationality is irrelevant. Applications may be made to assist with study in any subject or field, so long as it is concerned with Yemen, and is for a specific qualification (e.g., BA, MA, PhD etc.). Post-Doctoral researchers may apply but will only be considered should no more junior applicant approach the Committee.

Applicants should write to the Secretary of the Society at the e-mail: sec@b-ys.org.uk and provide:

- a 300-word abstract of the study
- a recommendation from the applicant's supervisor.
- A brief CV.

The normal deadline for applications is 31 May. However, because of the variability in the number of applications received every year and current conditions in Yemen anyone interested is encouraged to contact the Secretary in the first instance, even after the annual deadline.

Successful applicants will be required to make an acknowledgment of the grant in their thesis or dissertation. They will also be expected to make a presentation to the Society and/or contribute an article to the BYS Journal on the results of the research assisted by the grant.

If you require any further information or wish to discuss an application, please contact the Secretary. For information about past awards please go to <http://b-ys.org.uk/activities/bys-academic-grant>
